

A PROCLAMATION.

Of both Houses of Parliament,

For Proclaiming of his Majesty King of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c.

Though it can no way be doubted, but that his Majesties Right and Title to his Crowns and Kingdoms, is, and Was every Way completed by the death of his most Royal Father of Glorieus Memory, Without the Ceremony or Solemnyt of a Proclamation; Yet since Proclamations in such Cases have been alwaies used, to the end that all good Subjects might upon this occasion testifie their duty and respects; And since the Armed Violence, and other the Calamities of these many years last past, have hitherto deprived Us of any such opportunity, wherein Wee might express Our Loyalty and Allegiance to his Majestie. Wee therefore the Lords and Commons now assembled in Parliament, together with the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of Londor, and other Freemen of his Kingdom now present, do, according to Our Duty and Allegiance, heartily, joyfully and unanimously Acknowledege and Proclaim, That immediately upon the decease of Our late Sovereign Lord King Charls, the Imperial Crown of the Realm of England, and of all the Kingdoms, Dominions, and Rights belonging to the same, did by Inherent Birth-right, and lawfull and undoubted Succession, descend and come to His most Excellent Majesty Charls the Second, as being Lineally, Justly, and Lawfully next Heir of the Blood Royal of this Realm; And that by the Goodness and Providence of Almighty God, Hee is of England, Scotland, France, and Ireland, the most Potent, Mighty, and undoubted King, Defender of the Faith, &c. And thereunto Wee most humbly and faithfully do submit and oblige our Selues, our Heirs and Posterities for ever. Dated the 8th day of May, 1660.

Die Martis, May 8. 1660.

Ordered by the Lords in Parliament Assembled, That this Proclamation be forthwith Printed and Published.
